Visit the New HudsonRemodeling.com

We have re-designed our website to provide you more of the remodeling information you need to make informed decisions and to describe the quality of our work. You'll also find detailed information of our unique remodeling process and contact us through our site with your questions and concerns.

'Toolbox Chatter' is a blog we've introduced in order to interact with you on a more personal level. You can also sign up for our quarterly newsletter and download previous issues for informative articles on remodeling, design trends, local events and Hudson company news. We've included news about us featured in local newspapers and industry trade publications. We think you'll enjoy the new look of the site and how easy it is to use.

Be sure to visit our photo gallery, which is organized by project type, so the ones you are interested in can be found quickly.

Take a look and let us know what you think of our new website. We welcome your comments and ideas on how we can better serve your needs.

Vacation Magnets

We are always looking for ways to provide our customers with ideas and products that make their home more safe, livable and enjoyable. When vacation time comes around, many of you travel to be with family, leaving your homes unattended. Because we have developed a trusted and familiar relationship with you, we have come up with an idea that will help assure the safety of your home while you are away.

We now have magnets available for you, your trusted neighbor and your house sitter with our contact information so that they can call us in the event of a home emergency that requires immediate attention. We'll then contact you and attend to your home's needs so you can relax and enjoy your vacation time.

Request your magnet at HudsonRemodeling.com in preparation for your next vacation.

Friends,

Summer is coming to a close and we've seen a lot of changes in the past year. One thing that remains certain is the value of your greatest and arguably best investment—your home! Maintaining your home is the single best commitment you can make to retain and increase its worth. Whether it is weatherizing, replacing worn systems and windows, or updating the kitchen, master suite or bath, you can't lose. The relatively small investments you make throughout your life in your home will provide you returns in current and future energy bills, home life comfort, quality, and enjoyment and future sales value.

Take some time this fall to review your home needs and visit our new website for ideas and information. Our job and commitment to you is to provide honest and sound advice of your remodeling questions and concerns and to help create your vision of what you want your home to be.

Call or email us at any time to discuss, plan and organize your remodeling or maintenance needs. Gathering information, ideas and costs now will help you make your future remodeling experience a better one.

Did you know?

In June 2009 the median home value index price in Bellingham was $262,800.

Home price in the Bellingham area have increased 17.79% over the past 2-5 years.

Winterize your home

Fall is an important time to review winterization projects for your home and improve energy savings for the upcoming season. Aging windows, attic crawl spaces and doors can be a source of drafts that increase heating costs. Now is a great time to replace older products with highly insulated, e-value windows, better insulation and new seal tight doors that save on your overall heating (and cooling) bills. These upgrades also provide lasting beauty and functionality with a variety of new styles and designs. You'll be pleased with the increased comfort they provide and the contribution they will make for a healthier, greener way of living.

Getting Married & Moving

Jessica Hudson, our valued office manager, will be married this October 10th in Bellingham. Jessica plans a move to the Redmond/Seattle area where her fiancé, Joel Odell resides.

The couple met while at Western Washington University. Joel is a software programmer at Microsoft in the Windows Mobile division. Jessica recently graduated from Western with a degree in Communications. We'll miss her talents and friendly face, and wish her and Joel well in their marriage and new home.
